Goonhilly

Find out more about Goonhilly Earth Station and its vital role in the development of satellite communication at goonhilly.org

There is an interesting article about the history of the site here: news.bbc.co.uk

Moonbounce or Earth Moon Earth

If you are just getting started or are already an expert this site is very useful moonbouncers.org

The ARRL have some interesting articles and information here arrl.org

YOTA

The RSGB were very excited and proud to host Youngsters On The Air 2017 and welcome 80 young people from around the world to Gilwell Park near London.

There are daily video diaries of the huge range of activities undertaken over the week and lots more information about this inspirational event at rsgb.org

Also check out the official YOTA site at ham-yota.com

If like us you were very excited by the 5 watt CW transceiver kit that the YOTA delegates were building, you too can have a go at making one!
